A Dedication

Out of the past comes the present, and the present is embedded in in the past. A memory is our theme, the memory of Victoria, Queen of the vast British Empire and Empress of India, grandmother of the royal houses of Europe, counsellor of men who have become legends in the history of Britain, Pitt and Palmerston, Gladstone and Disraeli. Her position gave her stature, and her long reign gave her fame, but in her character lay her greatness. Dignity she gave to the crown, a dignity long absent from the royal palaces of Britain. Devotion she gave to a memory, to her family and to her subjects. Dedication she gave to the task of ruling a great empire then at the peak of its power and influence. Dignity, devotion and dedication were the qualities that made her great and that won for her the love and the respect of her people.

As our students go out from our school, may the name, Victoria, bring haunting memories of happy high school association, and may the qualities that were hers be theirs. And so with these thoughts in mind, we dedicate our Year Book of 1960 to the memory of that great lady, Victoria of England, after whom our school was named.

MISS A. C. DRISCOLL

In Memoriam

The death of Miss Aileen Driscoll in March of this year brought a feeling of personal loss to students and teachers of Victoria Composite High School, and to the hundreds of alumni whose privilege it had been to know her.

Miss Driscoll came to Victoria High fifteen years ago to teach in the school where she herself had been a student. She was happy to teach French with Miss Teskey, who had inspired her first attempts to speak the language, and from whose classes she had gone on to major in French "cum laude" at the University of Alberta.

After graduation Miss Driscoll had decided to become a teacher and spent several happy years at Llanarthney School for Girls. During this time there was an interlude in France, when she gained a strong affection for that country and a deep interest in its culture. There followed years of teaching at Garneau Junior High School, and then Victoria Composite High School.

After the war, Miss Driscoll spent a year in France, studying speech at the Sorbonne; and gaining her diploma in the teaching of phonetics. She spoke French fluently, and was a charter member of the Edmonton Branch of the "Alliance Francaise".

Miss Driscoll had a wide circle of French friends in Edmonton and did much to foster an interest in bi-lingualism. With Miss Teskey she convened "Le Petit Cercle Francais" which met for luncheon once a month at the Corona Hotel. Members were Edmonton teachers, and others interested in speaking French. A number of devoted French friends were also members, and the group had had many happy reunions. Not long before her death Miss Driscoll was planning for the Centieme Reunion, which should have been held in May but will now be held in September.

Miss Driscoll was a member of the University Women's Club, and represented Edmonton at the 1950 International Conference in Switzerland. She was also a member of the Alberta French Teachers' Association and served as a member of the Curriculum Sub-Committee on French.

In 1953, when Mr. C. O. Hicks retired as principal of Victoria High after forty-one years service with the school, Miss Driscoll acted as a member of the Committee of Alumni which arranged a reunion to honor Mr. Hicks. Her committee undertook to contact every graduate of the school, and Miss Driscoll prepared a book of names of alumni who responded generously to establish the C. O. Hicks Scholarship, which is given annually to the most outstanding graduate of the school to enter university. Miss Driscoll acted as a member of the committee to select the successful candidate each year.

Miss Driscoll's dedication to teaching was an inspiration to all who knew and worked with her. In early childhood she had suffered poliomyelitis, and had to wear heavy braces during her early school years. With great courage she overcame this handicap; and again when eight years ago she suffered a crippling form of arthritis, those who knew her marvelled at the indomitable courage with which she met life.

She has shaped the lives of many persons, for she always had a personal interest in her students. She knew that much work and self-discipline were necessary to master a foreign language and she was insistent that high standards could and must be achieved.

Truly this cultured lady with her Irish wit and charm, her indomitable will and rare courage will live in the memory of many.

Our deepest sympathy goes to her brother and sister in their great loss.

Principal's Message

Again I have the honour of addressing a few remarks to another group of my young friends, the class of '60.

This is the big year of transition in your young lives. You will be going out from here to University, to the trades, into business or into various other fields of employment. True, you will be leaving school in one sense of the word; but do not think for one moment that your education is over. No matter what type of work you take up, you should never cease to read good books or to study in your chosen field. Your school years have merely laid the foundation for a good substantial education after school.

Not only is this the beginning of a new year in your lives; but since this is 1960, we look upon it as the beginning of a new decade. I wonder what will you be doing in 1970. I like to speculate, as I look over the list of graduates, on how many will likely be teachers, doctors, lawyers, statesmen or nurses; or just what the future has in store for you.

Whatever you will be doing, be sure to take with you the spirit of friendship that has been manifest in the halls and classrooms of Vic during the past three years of your lives. In this connection, think what a dreary place this world would be without true friendship and companionship.

Have you read the stories of Damon and Pythias, and David and Jonathan? If you haven't, do so now. If you have, read them again. See in these stories what true friendship means.

In your choice of friends you must use a great deal of care and good judgment. Many a young person has found his chances of employment or promotion blocked because of the company he keeps. Many have found that true success and happiness have eluded them through the unfavourable influence of those whom they looked upon as friends—but who were not really.

Is an acquaintance a true friend, who encourages you to do things which your better self tells you are wrong? Would a true friend call you "chicken" if you refused to smoke, or drink, or take unnecessary chances with your car in traffic? Your good sense will tell you that such people are not friends at all. Have the courage to break with them once and for all, and seek other companionship before you lose yourself completely.

Hear what an Emperor of Japan once said and apply it to yourself:

*"The water placed in goblet, bowl, or cup
Changes its form to its receptacle;
And so our plastic souls take various shapes
And characters of good or ill, to fit
The good or evil in the friends we choose.
Therefore, be ever careful in your choice of friends,
And let your special love be given to those Whose strength of character may prove the whip
That drives you ever to fair wisdom's goal."*

We trust that you have looked upon the teachers of Vic as your friends, and that you will realize that we are sincere when we say that we hope and trust you will have a bright and happy future with a host of really true friends.

God bless every one of you.

Traditions that live

Strong and honourable traditions provide the foundation of firm training in leadership expressed today in the motto of the three Canadian Services Colleges: Truth-Duty-Valour.

Allied to the prestige of the past is advanced education at university level given by these colleges to the officer-cadets of Canada's armed forces. Carefully selected high school graduates are trained for challenging professional careers as officers in the Navy, Army or Air force, for the responsibility of holding the Queen's Commission.

to serve the Future

Through the Regular Officer Training Plan (ROTP) the Department of National Defence will sponsor a limited number of qualified High School graduates to obtain a university education, either at the Canadian Services Colleges or at designated Canadian universities. Full details of this financial assistance can be obtained without obligation from your nearest Armed Forces Recruiting Centre, or by mailing this coupon now.

'Closing date for candidates applying for 1959 fall classes is 1 July 1959'.

VALEDICTORY

JOAN RAMSEY

It is a very difficult task for one person to express for so many, what our high school will always mean to us. I can only hope to put into words a little of what we all carry in our hearts at this time of such great happiness and just a little sorrow.

Our modern society demands more of the school than has any other before it. Sweeping changes have taken place in the past few years that have accelerated the tempo of our lives to a breathless pace. The automobile, the airplane, the jet, and the rocket came in rapid succession to bring us to the space age. We must accept this and adjust to it, or be crushed and left behind. Education, long and often highly technical education, is one of the primary demands of this modern society. This is emphasized over and over wherever we go. A large part of this demand must be filled by the high school. Vic attempts to fill this need as few others do. Not only are her classrooms crowded by day, but adult education classes employ even more teachers in the evenings.

For young people, high school marks the beginning of true education for living. Before we came to Vic we had been treated as "kids"—and we acted like them. Our parents have given us more than we are able to realize at this moment, but to them we have always been, and probably always will be, children. From our very first welcome to Vic, we realized that this was not to be so here. Always since then, we have been addressed as "ladies and gentlemen". Which of us could ignore that challenge?

We entered this beautiful modern building three years ago, awed by its size, afraid of finding it coldly impersonal. Instead, we found great warmth and interest in our every trial and triumph. The Vic we know and love is not a building; it is a pattern of personalities. It shifts and changes every year as individuals come and go, but the substance that is Vic, remains. We all have helped to make this spirit what it is today. We found we could not just take what

Vic offered; we learned to give. We did give: on the playing field, in the fine arts department, in our academic achievements, and so many more. We were taught to give the right way, for of what use to anyone is a gift given half way? Play the game fairly; co-operate with one another; shoulder responsibility squarely. Mr. McFarland and our teachers give far beyond the demands of duty; our student leaders add a great deal of time and effort. But it is because the smallest contributions of each one of us have been encouraged, accepted, and valued to such an extent, that Vic, and the spirit of Vic, have become unique.

Never again are we likely to find the encouragement and sympathetic understanding that we have found during these three years. Under the influence of this encouragement and understanding, we have gained self-confidence. The spark of learning that our teachers have ignited in us will rise and burn more brightly in some than in others. Not all of us will take further schooling, but all of us will gain further education. At this time we try to express our thanks for all that our teachers have done for us. Though you may at times be discouraged, may we tell you that you must never feel that what you are doing for us is in vain.

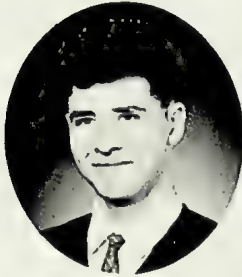

Soon we shall be scattered, each one striving for his separate goal. All will not be easy for any one of us, but I believe that this class, having been a part of the substance that is Vic, will always find the courage to keep going and never lose sight of that goal.

To Vic: May you be able to help our successors as much as you have helped us.

To the class of 1960: May you find success and happiness in this rather unsettled world of ours.

To both: A very fond farewell.

GRAD PROPHECY

It is now the year 2060. Cars are no longer spoken of in terms of "lemons" but as "grape fruits" since they are now too big to be called anything else. Science discovered that "Strontium 90" only caused baldness and so everyone is now bald. The Eisenhowers and General de Gaulles are now all forgotten, and someone finally went unscathed over Niagara Falls in a barrel. One only uses mental telepathy now, and hearing aids are an oddity of the past.

Victoria Composite High is replaced by a three block long edifice known as the Victoria Astronaut, Defense and Education Centre.

We are all back at Vic for the graduation of our great-great-grandsons or daughters. As we look around we can see many noticeable faces in the crowd.

There on the stage is Harry Hiller, our president way back in 1960. Now Harry is the President of the Interplanetary Government. Harry achieved this position by acclamation from all solar systems.

Stunning as always, Joan Ramsey appears bedecked in gay diamonds and emeralds. Joan is now a famous artist. She just finished painting murals on the rings of the fabulous winter resort, Saturn.

Accompanying Joan is the ever English John Humphreys. John started out manufacturing dog biscuits and now owns cookie syndicates in several worlds. John is said to be the man behind inter-world politics.

A gasp of awe arises as Gordon Sande appears. Gordon, as you may remember, proved the Einstein Theory of Relativity to be completely false. Gordon is now working on plans to make a new planet.

Camera in arm, the photographer is here. One of the best of the day is Reg Hodgson. He is here today having just photographed the leaders of our world conferring in Paris. Reg also graduated from Vic in 1960, a very memorable year.

"Mighty Dwight" cries the audience, as the well known national hero arrives. Dwight Thomas set many firsts for our world. He was first man in outer space, first man to reach Pluto, and first man to discover "mysterious madness" a condition caused by too much space travel. Another cheer from the crowd as "Mighty Dwight" Thomas takes his seat on the stage.

Jim Whitfield appears after his ten year endurance record for continuous space travel. Jim you will recall, was a very good swimmer a few years ago.

Ron Jobe is a very proud parent tonight for his son is now principal at Vic, a position commanding much respect. Ron was once principal at the "old Vic" before its liquidation.

Carole Clarke always the beautiful star of the "platinum screen" is here too. She just recently won a "Pluto" for the best actress in all Universes. Carole was very happy with this. However, she says that the Eva O. Howard Award still holds first place in her heart.

Marlene Friedrich flew back today from Venus, just for her grand-daughter's graduation. Marlene is just in the middle of designing and building a bridge connecting Venus and Mercury. This will be the longest span known to our world.

Now, who would this happy person be, cheerily greeting all his friends and companions? Why it's Stephen Cox. Stephen is now, as always, wound up in many projects. He is compiling a new Criminal Code for the Universe, directing a Spectacular, member of the Interplanetary Government and editor of the largest daily newspaper which appears in ten constellations.

On his arm is Libby Cotsman, a friendly rival of Stephen's. Libby runs the second largest newspaper coming out in only eight constellations. It can be remembered when Stephen and Libby were in the school publishing business. Libby published the Yearbook, and Stephen the school paper.

Kim Bong Ja is here. She was our daughter once upon a time (as you may remember). Kim, thanks to our help, graduated from University and came to Canada to teach languages. At the present time, Kim can speak ninety-one languages fluently and is in the process of learning six more.

His excellency Colin Fraser, Ambassador to the Fourth Constellation, has just come into the auditorium. Colin is a very important person in politics at the moment and holds a very important and delicate position.

Margo Niewchas is also here tonight. Many of you will remember Margo as a very athletic girl. She is coach of the women's basketball, soccer, cricket, and swim teams, who incidentally are the champions of the Universe.

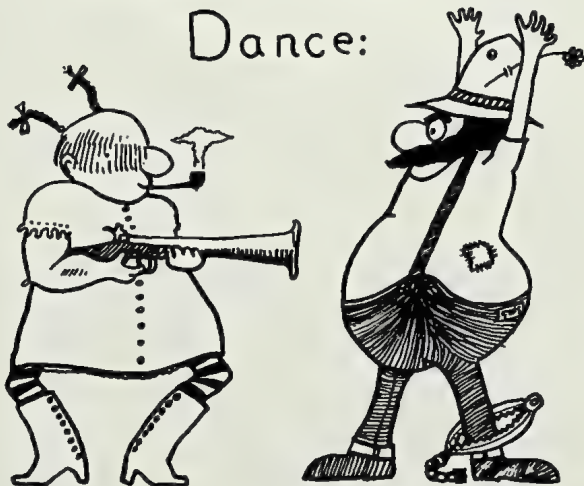

Tom Wilson is here this evening to give the opening remarks to the graduating class of '60. Tom is the Anglican Primate of this Universe, the highest position obtainable. Everyone remembers Tom as our worthy Grad President.

So, as a hush settles over the audience and the picture fades, there is hope among the alumni that their sons and daughters become as good citizens as they did. Here gathered at Vic tonight are the great names of a century, 1960 to 2060. Congratulations Vic Comp on a job well done.

Frosh "Welcome" Week:

Sadie Hawkins Dance:

Career Day:

Class '60 History

1957. Remember that year? Yes, that's the year all you grade twelves first began roaming the halls of Vic.

Our illustrious president that year was none other than Michael Whitla, an appropriate and excellent leader for the Vicites. Assisting him was the ever able Bob Cooke, and as some of you may remember, a very handsome young man. Skirts and running shoes for the boys, were the order of the day on that ever humiliating event "Frosh Day". Such hilarious atrocities as pushing pennies down the hall with our noses, carrying seniors' books and the unavoidable task of counting the number of holes in the acoustic tiles, were executed by frightened but happy Frosh.

Heather Lemay, our Argosy editor at the time, led in the collection of "White Gifts" for the needy of the city, Vic's big charity drive.

In the months following Christmas, after we came to know our school, we joined the audiences of "Bernadine" and "The Prince of Pilsen".

That year we all became parents of Kim Bong Ja our beloved Korean daughter and the Jubilee Auditorium became the site of the Grad Dance.

And so after "les vacances" we returned to Vic with memories of the previous year still in our hearts, and embarked upon a new school year.

The preceding year saw the election of Vic's "Petticoat Government" under the leadership of two apt and very pretty young ladies, Pat Hyduk and Sonia Kulka. Lillian Ransom led the Argosy in a very busy and profitable year. Libby Cotsman took over to give us one of the best and most colourful yearbooks Vic has ever seen.

School spirit, it was said, soared to an all time record. To prove this, the induction of a new group took place. This group is officialy known as the Pep Squad.

Who will ever forget the excitement that preceded our trip to Calgary for the football playoffs against Central High? Joviality and mirth were the passwords for this trip. Although momentarily dampened by our loss, our spirit redeemed itself on the way back and we were as gay if not gayer. We soon rallied back from this loss to win the CAPHER tournament. This warranted a very large bouquet for our Senior Redmen basketball team. Another honour was bestowed upon Vic when Bill Mitchell "skipped" his curling team into the Northern Alberta Playdowns.

The story of a juvenile delinquent provided Vic's first play of the season, "Dino".

No sooner had "Dino" gone by, than rehearsals started for "Teahouse of the August Moon", the laughable story of orientation of the oriental. Impressed in the memory of those who saw the play will be the comical antics of "Sakini" the beauty of the delicate and misunderstood "Lotus Blossum", the bewilderment of Captain Fisby and the idiosyncrasies of the mixed-up psychologist MacLean. Laughs galore were caused by a stage-struck goat, Oscar, as he played the part of "Winston Churchill". Everyone seemed to agree that Mr. Peacocke had really out done himself as far as "Teahouse" was concerned.

"Meet Arizona" was the title of the Musical and it was a memorable event for all who enjoy music and acting.

The influence of a woman's hand made itself present in the Students' Union office in more than one way last year. There came, with Miss Hyduk, an excellent job of redecoration. Red and white beanies and banners, were two more new novelties introduced by the "Petticoat Government" last year. Incidentally they seem to have been very popular innovations.

Ian McNeill was elected grad-president, and under his capable leadership the graduating ceremonies were conducted with their usual color and finesse.

So, we the Graduating class of 1960, began on our last lap of a three year voyage, under our "captain", Harry Hiller, President of the Students' Union, and our "first-mate" Anne Gardiner, Vice-President. The wheel of the paper this year, came under the hand of Stephen Cox who steered it through an excellent year. Libby Cotsman piloted the Yearbook through many shallow and tight spots and gave us two versions of the "Victorian". There was the soft-cover, and the newest style hard-cover book.

Our football team this year fought a long hard battle only to lose out very near the end of the season. However, all Vicites seemed to appreciate their efforts, for rain or shine, a good crowd was always present at Coronation Park to cheer them on.

In basketball we proved ourselves much better than in football. We entered the CAPHER tournament and proved to be the best squad.

Again in swimming, we earned another title by taking the Boys' City Championship.

"The Male Animal" was a play to behold, or at least so said the audiences by their rounds of applause at the conclusion of each evening. This was the heart-warming story of Professor Tommy Turner and his wife, Ellen who struggled against the trustee Edward K. Keller, and the romantic Joe Ferguson.

Outstanding social events of the season included the two dances, "Shmoo's Shindig" and "Spring Prom" both of which were very successful. Two "lits" were provided for the students who enjoyed them immensely.

And it came to pass that Tom Wilson was chosen to steer the right course for our graduands. As Commencement Night rolled past and the Grad Dance came into view, we saw that this handsome young man had indeed been the right choice.

Now it is up to us, the Graduands of 1960 to plot our course into the future. Do it as well as has been done in the future and you will never flounder!

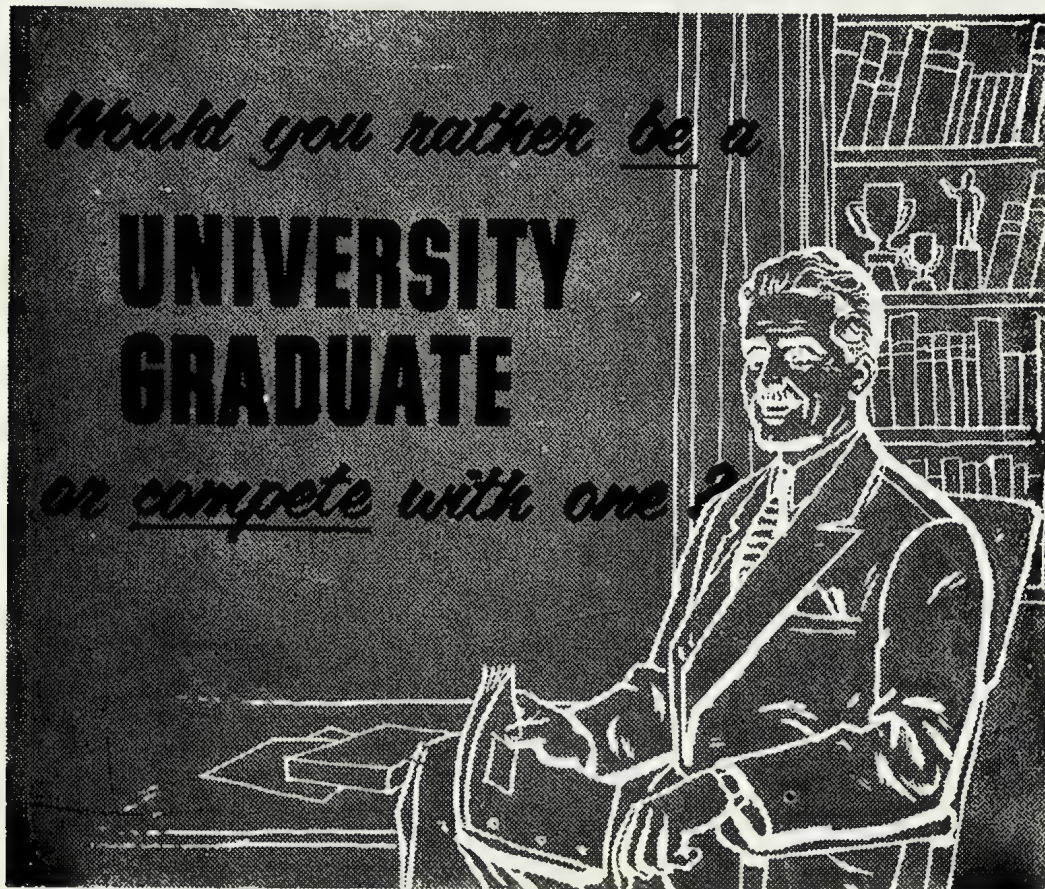

BONNE CHANCE!

President's Message

By Harry Hiller

As another school year is drawing to a close, our memories wander over the past months and the activities crowded into them. We have distinguished ourselves in the sporting world and extra-curricular activities, but now the time has come to distinguish ourselves academically.

By winning the championship, our Junior Football team did what the seniors tried wholeheartedly to do but failed just short of the goal. Our two basketball teams have done well also. But the force and energy behind all the noise at these games were those students who belonged to our big Pep Squad. However, in all of these activities our aim besides winning, was to show a high degree of sportsmanship and actually display the superb quality of our students.

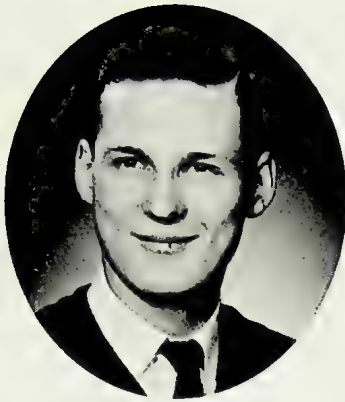

Our Students' Union has tried to do what the students wished whenever possible. The room representatives did their part well by being faithful at the meetings and participating when they were asked to do something and not refusing. At the executive level, our Students' Council proved they had elected efficient officers as all members pulled their share of the load. Our Frosh Days, under new and revised regulations, worked out favorably as the week emphasized school spirit. The Assemblies Board put on two tremendous literaries and another highlight was our Career Day. Our annual yearplay showed what fine directing and acting is, as a tremendous performance of the "Male Animal" was well attended for three nights. These are only a few of the "big" activities at Vic that succeeded in making a lifelong impression on us. A vote of thanks goes out to all those people who contributed to this school year 1959-60.

We also proved ourselves to be active in school club life as three new clubs were organized. The Latin Club and the French Club were organized by students and teachers interested in those respective fields. To boost our school spirit, the Pep Band was organized on an informal basis to give an added lift to our pep rallies. All of the other clubs showed an increase in attendance and interest as this year's motto was "Join at least one Club".

Behind each extra-curricular activity was someone who contributed much to its development. These kind people, to whom we are deeply indebted, are our teachers. Rain or shine, they were supervising a club or over-seeing an activity. However, there is another contribution of greater importance to us. Without an explanation of a math problem or a translation in French, we would have been lost. But a few words of encouragement were enough to spur us on to prepare for those ever-important grade XII final examinations. Our Students' Union says a big Thank You to Mr. Waddell, our adviser, for his help in making our functioning a pleasure. Our principal, Mr. McFarland, also deserves our thanks as he spent much of his time in keeping us all happy.

I should like to personally express my gratitude to the students of our school for their splendid co-operation. I hope that we have kept up the fine reputation of Victoria and that each of you has done your part. May you continue to strive for goals of worthiness and bring honor to our school.

Success and happiness in the years to come is my wish to each of you.

V.C.H.S. BOARDS

The purpose of the Awards Board is to select students who merit awards, these awards coming under four different classes: academic, activities, and special abilities. Mr. Craig was this year's chairman.

The Eligibility Board rules on the right of individual students to participate in extra-curricular activities. It is headed by Mr. Simbalist.

The purpose of the Finance Board is to look after school funds and organize the intelligent use of this money. The chairman of the Finance Board is Miss A. Holley.

Under the chairmanship of Mr. H. Hohol, the Athletic Board makes recommendations concerning all athletic clubs.

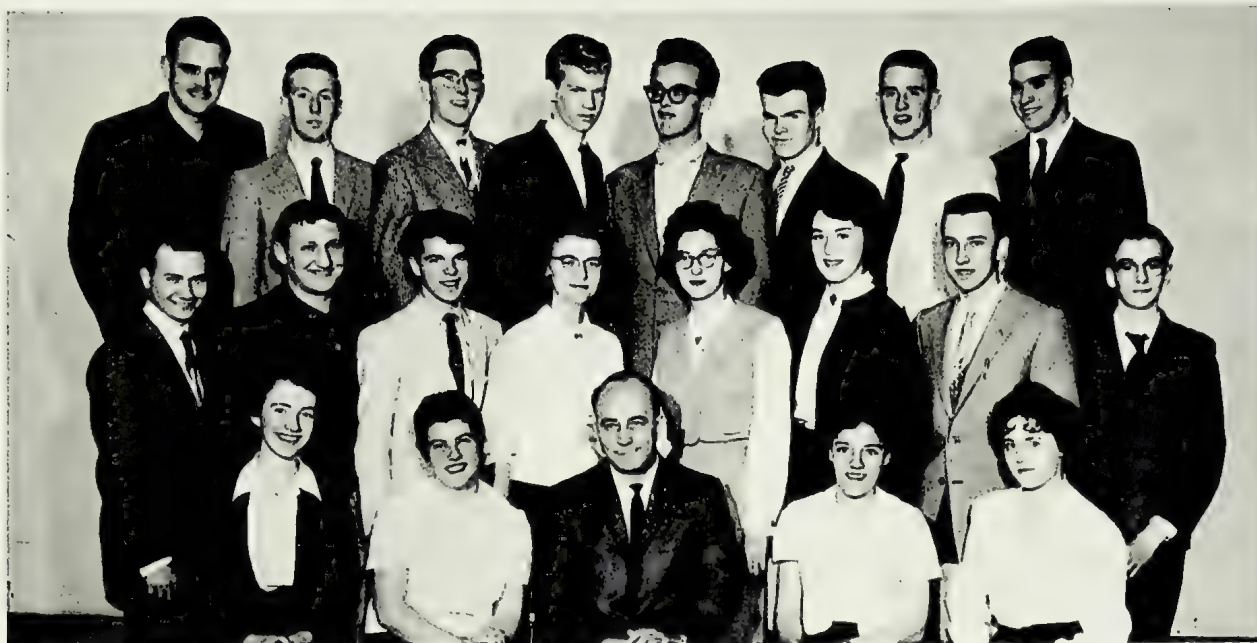

Mr. S. Olsonberg is the chairman of the Club Board. This board supervises all clubs not coming under the jurisdiction of the Athletic Board, the Publications Board, or the Social Board.

The Publications Board supervises, under the direction of its chairman, Mr. C. Hollingsworth, the activities of Vic's four publications. It also makes award recommendations.

Mr. R. Sheppard is the chairman of the Assemblies Board. This Board approves and organizes student talent for assembly programs.

The Social Board supervises student social activities. Miss A. Lent is head of this committee.

The Advisory Committee acts as a "troubleshooter" for other boards. Its chairman is Mr. E. Nepstad.

Vic's Clubs

BOYS' ARCHERY CLUB

Vic is fortunate to have a Boys' Archery Club where boys are given the opportunity to compete against other students. Under the advisorship of Mr. J. E. Milner and Mr. M. N. Gavinchuk, competitions are held weekly to decide the top archer of the week, and at the term's end a competition is held to determine the top archer of the year.

GIRLS' ARCHERY

Several times a week, about twenty aspiring young "Robin Hoods" practice archery in the Rifle Range room under the supervision of Mr. Henderson. During the year, the girls shoot and practise their accumulated skills in preparation for the final archery competition held in the spring. The girls compete for a mounted arrow plaque and the honor and glory associated with it.

ART CLUB

Vic's Art Club welcomes all students interested in Art. A service club, the members assist in making posters, dance decorations and the like, and bring in the work of local artists for display in our show cases.

BADMINTON CLUB

The Victoria Composite Badminton Club meets every Monday noon and on Friday after school in the white gym. The forty-eight members were under the advisorship of Mr. H. P. Ross. The annual club tournament was held in January to choose the school team.

BODY BUILDING CLUB

The Body Building Club meets every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at noon and after school in the corrective gym. The club has 50 members and its purpose is to condition the body to everyday life, not to build bulging muscles.

GIRLS' BOWLING

The Girls' Bowling Club meets every Wednesday at 4:15, in the Avenue Bowling Alley under the supervision of Miss Walker. The club works to improve all girls' bowling techniques, and to prepare for the year-end, city-wide tournament.

MIXED BOWLING CLUB

Every Monday after school, the Lucky Strike Bowling Alleys are the scene of Mixed Bowling Club meetings. The 120 participating members have found the club encourages new friends, promotes enjoyment, and improves bowling skills.

CHESS AND CHECKERS

The Chess and Checker Club meets every day except Wednesday in Room 207 under the supervision of Mr. Olsonberg. Many tournaments were held at Vic to prepare the players for the inter-school tournament in which our Chess Club made a good showing.

CLICK CLUB

For the budding photographers at Vic, there is the Click Club. Every Thursday and Friday twenty-five such people meet in the Photography room. Their purpose is to encourage and promote the advancement of photography.

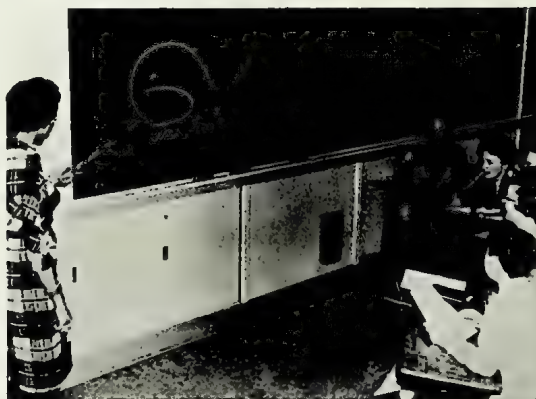

CURLING CLUB

The Curling Club consists of forty-eight regular members who are divided into twelve rinks. Mr. J. Badner is the adviser. The club meets every Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 in the Avenue Curling Rink.

FRENCH CLUB

"Parlez-vous Francais?" That seems to be the main idea of the French Club. This group meets every Friday in Room 116 to learn oral French. The capable advisers are Mrs. Boytzun and Mrs. A. Johnstone.

GLEE CLUB

Enjoy singing? Then this is the club for you every Tuesday and Thursday. Vic's songsters warble harmoniously under the capable direction of Mr. R. Lopatka and Mr. G. Brimacombe. The 65 members participated in the Nativity, Yuletide carolling and school lits.

I.S.C.F. CLUB

Every Wednesday at 12:00 in the Auditorium Lounge a group of students gather "To know Christ and to make Him known." The group conducts Bible Study, sing songs, participate in school activities and inter-school social groups.

LATIN CLUB

Every Tuesday at 11:45 in Room 204, twenty aspiring Latin enthusiasts meet to gain further knowledge of Latin culture and to increase their knowledge of the language.

MODELLING CLUB

Every Monday at 12:00 noon some thirty promising young models gather in Room 122 to observe and practise modelling techniques. The poise and self confidence they acquire at the meetings is displayed in such events as the annual Fashion Show.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AND DEBATING

The Public Speaking and Debating Club meets every Monday noon in Room 103. Under the guidance of Miss McKinlay, the club has presented several successful debates and speeches.

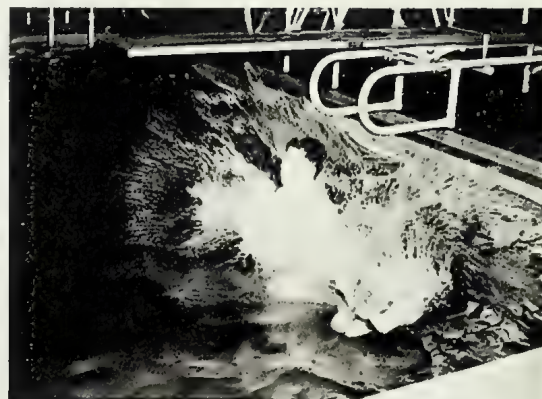

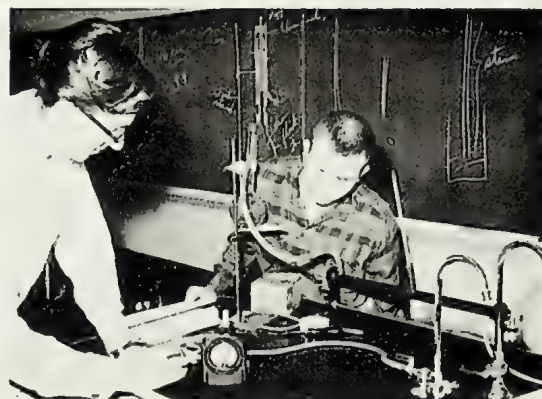

RADIO CLUB

The members of the Radio Club attended meetings to learn to become radio amateurs and to work with anything that is interesting to them in the fascinating world of electronics.

SCIENCE CLUB

This year the V.C.H.S. Science Club consisted of three groups of students each headed by a teacher. The Engineering section, headed by Mr. Carran, met on Mondays to discuss such things as the slide rule and careers in engineering. The Chemistry section which dealt with chemical experiments, met on Tuesday under the supervision of Mr. Glen, while Mr. Hunt supervised the Physics section which met on Thursdays. Each section has about five members.

SWIM CLUBS

Junior, Intermediate, and Senior Swim. These three swimming clubs have been run under the guiding hand of Mr. Chrusch. There are about forty members in all three clubs striving to improve their swimming abilities.

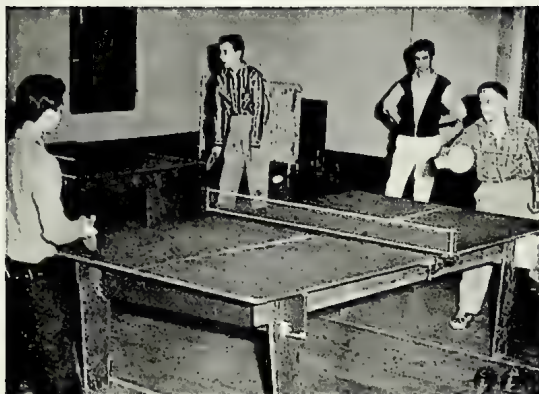

TABLE TENNIS CLUB

To speak of "ping-pong" to about fifteen young Vicites would be about the same as calling Nashua an "old nag". These people are the members of the V.C.H.S. Table Tennis Club. Every noon these people meet in the Red Auditorium to play and practise, preparing themselves for the annual Table Tennis Tourney which Vic won this year. Congratulations to all who participated.

FUTURE TEACHERS' CLUB

One of Vic's most dynamic clubs this year, was the Future Teachers' Club. Under the supervision of Mr. Knuth, the club participated in skits, arranged book displays, attended the teachers' convention and held the first known F.T.C. convention in Western Canada.

TUMBLING CLUB

Forward and backward rolls, pyramids, and general conditioning exercises, form a great part of the activities undertaken by the V.C.H.S. Tumbling Club. The nearly twenty members meet at noon hours in the Corrective Gym to practise tumbling, improve their co-ordination, and generally tone-up their bodies.

Tommy Turner has been married 10 years to Ellen, and is quietly settled in a nice comfortable teaching job at Mid-Western University. But this is the weekend of the Michigan game and Joe Ferguson, who was the greatest football hero Mid-Western ever had, comes to town and, of course, sees Ellen to whom he used to be unofficially engaged. In addition to this slight upset in Tommy's life, he is brought into an academic controversy when Michael Barnes, a young intellectual, writes an article in which he calls the Trustees, "Fascists!"

Tommy, because he wants to read a letter to his composition class written by Nanzette, is about to be thrown out of school. Ellen tries to dissuade Tommy from reading the letter, and this coupled with Joe's presence, forces Tommy to ask her to go with Joe and leave him to his books and principles. Eventually, Tommy challenges Joe to fisticuffs after he has fortified himself with the liquid courage. Also, he refuses to deny that he will read the Nanzette letter and decides to stand on his principle of the freedom of ideas and the right to teach the young to think. Ellen now sees that he is a pretty good example of the male animal, and stands up with him.

Victoria's '60's

By RICHARD ORAM

The 1960's usher in a new era, and ring out an old decade for Victoria High School. In ten short years the world has seen the rise and fall of the jet age and the birth of the space age. An age of IBM's, Nuclear Warheads, Sputniks, and Spacemen. The sixties will see the first man in space, atomic energy will provide light and heat, and ladies will wash their dishes with sound waves and cook their meals with thermal electric heat. Victoria High, as stately and as grand as the lady for whom she is named, will not sit idle and watch the world pass beyond her doorsteps. She will produce the leaders of this age, leaders who will be capable of coping, not only with the problems of this earth, but with the problems of the unknown. This is her challenge and she will strive until she has achieved her goal, and achieve it she will. God's strength to her, and to her subjects. May the glory that has been hers for the last ten years be with her for many years to come.

THE MOUNTAIN

By NEVAL CURRIE

They were climbing, slowly, tortuously, ever closer to the living summit. I was watching from the third camp on the mountain. My feet were frost-bitten, and I was lying in the soft snow with my feet carefully wrapped in a thick blanket, waiting for the agonizing thawing to come. I fumbled in my pack and brought out my binoculars. I adjusted them on the small black figures, toiling on the last sharp shoulder leading to the summit. My feet began to thaw, and I lay in agonized pain watching my comrades pick their way carefully up, up to the sinister waiting tip that was at last so near. This was the fourth day we had spent on the mountain, and this day would be the day, for the top was only a matter of a hundred yards from my friends. They were moving jerkily now, exhaustion and excitement sending nervous impulses to their legs. I put the glasses down and worked over my feet. The dreamy lassitude of the warm relief from my toes crept upwards, enveloping all of me in a peaceful, happy sense of well-being. As I glanced upwards at the mountain, I was surprised to see my friends toiling upwards apart from each other. I put the glasses on them and was dismayed to see them throwing caution to the winds and actually racing each other to the top. The top was now only fifty feet above them. They had, directly above them, leading to the summit, a narrow causeway of snow that lead to the platform-like peak. One of them I could not tell which, shambled onto the thin snowbridge and started to cross. The other, uttering a hoarse cry, also started across, attempting to overtake the first figure. He did. As I watched horrified, they grappled madly in the greed for being first. One fell to his knees, but managed blindly, to grab the other's leg. He was brutally smashed in the face by a flailing arm, and slumped down, half-conscious. The victor stumbled on, on, on toward the summit. Suddenly, through the glasses, I saw the snowbridge tremble. The man on it scurried forward, but was too slow. The bridge toppled sideways, carrying both men over the sharp mountain shoulder and screaming down, down. I lay in the snow, paralyzed with horror. The glasses lay beside me. I got to my feet and entered the tent. I prepared to pack and leave. I was frightened, scared of dying as my friends had. I knew I would never climb again. There would never be a race to the top for me—ever. The mountain had conquered.

The Adventurers

By ELIZABETH GOEBEL

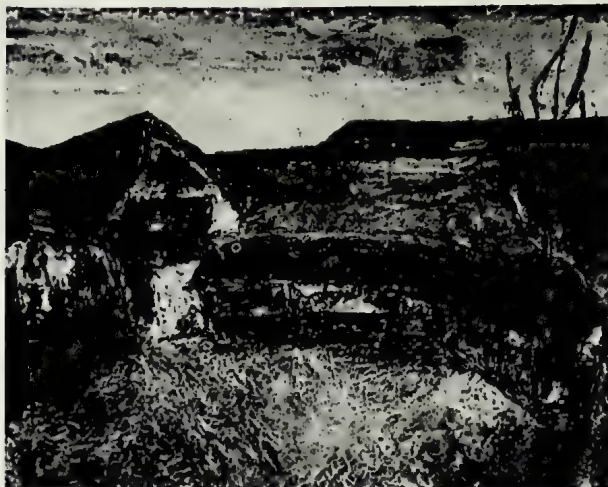

A ringing whistle calls the dawn,
It is another day,
Time now all sailors left their beds,
And went down to the bay.

There's a smell of salt and fishes,
As the sun begins ascending,
The sea has turned to molten gold,
The fisherfolk nets are mending.

Time now all sailors left their beds,
And went down to the bay,
To get their ships in readiness,
For this adventurous day.

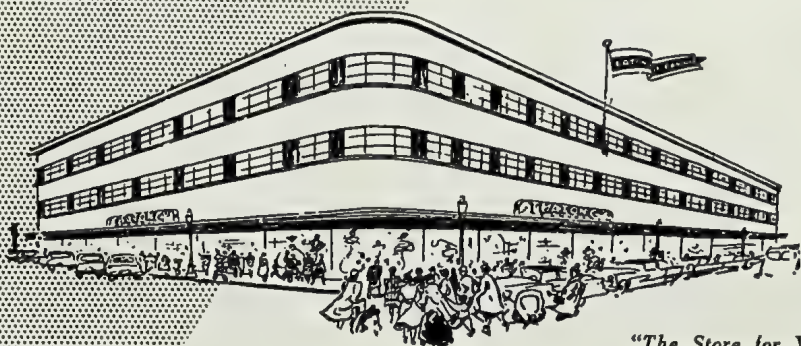

Today all sails shall be set,
For strange south-western seas,
Where islands green bask in the sun,
Where blows the tropic breeze.

Straight for these islands we will fly
With canvas all unfurled.
We go to fill our empty holds
With Cargo—gold and jewelled.

Into our holds we stow such things,
As ebony and spices,
Then we set sail for home again,
We pray we'll meet no crisis.

Oh, what a glorious voyage we'll have,
So let's get under way,
Now boys heave ho! away we go!
Adventure is ours today.

LOST

By Brian Faulkner

John sat in the flickering light of his campfire. The first snowfall of the year was whispering down. As it settled on the ground and the surrounding trees it seemed to wash away the bleakness of summer's dormant shadows.

To John it was a depressing sight. He was lost. Today his father had brought him into the mountains on his first big game hunting trip. He was young, eighteen, and full of enthusiasm. Late afternoon had found them deep in the high timber. The going had been hard and the hunt fruitless. They sat down for a rest and a cigarette. Suddenly a buck went crashing off through the woods! John's father swung up his rifle and managed to get off a snap shot. The deer collapsed and lay still. John's father set to work skinning the deer immediately. It would be bad to get caught by a blizzard in the mountains. And from the looks of the sky, snow would be flying within two hours. Suddenly pandemonium broke loose! The deer wasn't dead! John's father, preoccupied with the need for haste had taken the deer's death for granted. The deer, stunned from a neck graze, woke to the agony of a half-skinned body. John wasn't sure what happened next. The deer crazed by the pain, kicked and writhed frantically and his father fell back. John had stood rooted to the ground in amazement. Gathering his wits together John seized his rifle and gave the deer its coup de grace. He was too late. His father lay still, his chest crushed by the deer's first frenzied convulsion.

John sat down. It had all happened so fast he couldn't even cry. Then it started. The snow came. Fluttering softly at first, then thicker and faster. It snapped John out of his dazed condition. He remembered his father telling him of four men who were caught by a blizzard in this area the year before. They had tried to walk out, but the snow was too deep. They must have been overcome by fatigue. Anyway, their bodies were found the following spring.

At the thought of his father, John realized that the body must be given some protection against the hungry animals. It took him an hour to pry loose from the frozen earth enough rocks to securely cover his father's body. He said a little prayer for his father then turned away.

It was then that he felt it. The over-powering loneliness, enhanced by the wind moaning through the timber. But then he felt defiant, determined. He would survive. Now that his father was dead he had to be there to take over the responsibility of his family. John decided that he had to do one of two things. He must walk out as the men last year had tried, or stay in the mountains for the winter. He remembered the old trapper's cabin farther up the slope which his father had told him about. It took John the better part of the next day to find the cabin. It was weather-beaten but was still solid. He made another trip to bring up his gear. After lighting a fire in the old pot-belly stove, he carefully looked over his equipment. He still had his own and his father's rifles, two boxes of ammunition and two spools of snare-wire.

He realized that to try to walk out would be certain death. But here he had shelter and the means to survive the winter. He decided to stick it out.

For food John set snares for rabbits and went out with his rifle. He met little success at first, but as the weeks passed he gained experience and confidence. The hard work brought a change in him. Till now he had steered shy of work thinking it was for suckers. But now he learned to take pride in anything he had made himself, the crude snowshoes he had made for covering his snareline more quickly, the leggings he had made from the skin of a deer he had shot.

The months passed. And John noticed the change in the weather. Winter was almost over and Spring was just putting in its appearance. Within two weeks he decided it would be time to leave.

He packed his knapsack and made his way to his father's grave. A wave of sadness engulfed him. He knelt and said a prayer as he had months before. But now it was not a spoiled boy kneeling, but a man. Rising, he turned and surveyed the rugged region, in which he had learned to depend on himself. Then he wheeled around, picked up his pack and strode down the trail. He knew that on reaching home he would no sooner relieve his shoulders of his pack, than a burden of responsibilities towards himself and family would take its place. But now he felt capable of bearing them.

THE SNOW CLOUD

By ELIZABETH GOEBEL

A snow cloud is a dainty maid,
With skirts of snowy white,
She may visit in the day,
Or she may come at night.

This dainty maid is always gay,
She dances where she goes,
She swirls her lovely skirts about,
And pirouettes on her toes.

A snow cloud is a lovely queen,
Whose palace is of frost,
Her kingdom is the winter-time,
In summer it is lost.

VICK'S Awards

AWARDS SYSTEM

The Awards system of Victoria Composite recognizes students who have achieved outstanding leadership in academic, athletic, and extra-curricular activities. The highest awards in the school are the Citizenship Awards. These are the C. O. Hicks award for boys and the J. P. Page award for girls, presented to two grade XII students on the basis of their services to the school during their high school years.

Academic awards are given for outstanding achievement in curricular work. An Academic Award is presented to students having obtained an average of 80% or more on the Christmas and Easter reports. The Special Abilities Award recognizes superior ability in the shop, business education and fine arts field. The academic, special abilities, and special awards consist of pins suitably engraved.

The Tom Davies Memorial Trophy is awarded to the boys of the intramural sports group obtaining the highest number of "trophy points" as allocated in the awards system. The trophy include all organized house-league competitions.

The Athletic-Major Award, recognizes those players of outstanding ability who have played on teams in interscholastic competition. The award is an "eight inch" white chenille "V" which is worn on the awards sweater. The Athletic-Minor Award, a four-inch "V", is for those players on any interscholastic team who have been excellent players, but who have not qualified for the Athletic-Major Awards.

The Activities Awards (major and minor) are considered as special awards for outstanding contribution to the school in activities, including both cultural and athletic administration.

The Major Award includes activities such as lead parts in high-calibre plays and musicals and other comparable activities. Outstanding work on any publication, administrative and executive efforts connected with the Student's Council, houseleague and club activities involving interscholastic participation are also included.

The Activities-Minor Award is intended to give recognition to students of noticeable merit in the above fields. The Major and Minor Activities Awards are red Old English "V's" eight inches and four inches in height respectively.

Winners of Academic, of Special Pins, and Activity or Athletic crests are qualified to buy award sweaters. The pins and chenilles must be worn on award sweaters only. All club crests and insignia must be worn on school sweaters only. All club crests and insignia must be worn on school sweaters. Boys who have participated on championship school teams, either city or provincial, may purchase jackets.

Award winners receive recognition of demonstrated capacity for all phases of leadership, academic and citizenship skills. These young people, the school believes, are the adult leaders of tomorrow.

Boys' Sports

This year the V.C.H.S. sport scene was one of many wins and few losses. The two football teams were chosen and the strict training programme set by our most capable coaches was in effect once more. Game time drew near and at last the kickoff for the first game was over and the long gruelling fight for the "City Championship" was on. In the first game played at Clarke Stadium, Vic was defeated by the Scona Lords. After the first game the city football teams moved on to Coronation Park where they rounded out the remainder of their games. Here, in this new stadium our teams battled; lost and won; until, it was time for the city playoffs. The Senior Redmen defeated Ross Sheppard but to no avail as our 3-3 record put us out of the provincial running.

The Junior Redmen on the other hand, played off against St. Mary's and after a hard fight for four long periods, the score was a tie and the Junior Redman now share the City Championship with the St. Mary's Angels.

The football season drew to its close with the turning in of hard worn uniforms, and the basketball season was underway. Try-outs for the teams were completed and the difficult task of selection was left once again to Vic's coaches. Eliminations were made, uniforms were issued to the teams and the hours of long hard practices were begun. This season was a success for both Junior and Senior teams. The Senior team won 9 out of 12 games; while the younger contingent of our school teams, won 10 out of 12 games. The city playoffs were next on the list and the victorious Senior Redmen came out top defeating Bonnie Doon 60-47 for the City Title. The Junior Team, with all its might and glory, defeated Eastglen for the Junior City Title. The finals of the basketball season came to a close when Vic Seniors met the Calgary team and were defeated by our neighbors to the south, again relinquishing the Provincial Crown.

Congratulations to both football and basketball teams. Victoria is proud of you and we shall never forget the many wins with which you thrilled our school. Again this year, as in the previous year, the Victoria school spirit was high and at every school game the stands were filled with the enthusiastic student body and faculty.

As we draw the sports page to a close, may we hope that next year's teams will be just as great if not greater than those of previous years and that the student body will continue to support Vic's inter-school games.

Girls' Sports

The V.C.H.S. girls' sport scene opened with a major change. Volleyball preceded basketball, to enable a longer basketball season, without the usual break for Christmas holidays. The volleyball season, which is shorter, thus could be completed before the holidays.

In line with this change, the coaches, Miss B. Fisher and Mrs. C. Shaw called practices early in October. The Senior Team, limited to grade elevens and twelves was selected, and chose Margo Niewchas as captain. Composed of four grade twelves and eight grade elevens, the Senior Team commenced play on November third. At the completion of the schedule, these Vicites occupied undisputed second place.

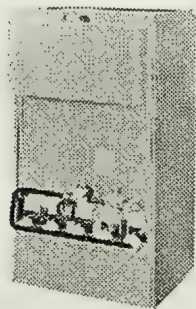

Coached by Mrs. C. Shaw, the Junior Team also began their season on November third. This twelve-member team chose Heather Graham as their captain. After a strenuous season, the Juniors captured the City Championship.

Because the basketball season commenced on February 5th the coaches called tryouts the week before Christmas holidays, to select the Senior Team. Co-captained by Marilyn Smith and Margo Niewchas, the Seniors placed third after many typical Vic attempts. Sylvia Lohin, one of the three hold-overs from the previous years, sparked the team as top scorer with 46 points. This nine-member team, owes much to Miss B. Fisher who donated much of her time and talents in preparation for the basketball season.

The Junior Team was captained by Heather Graham who was also top-scorer, with 43 points. Miss Stelck coached these girls to a 4-1 record, ending up in second place. Using many of these grade tens and elevens, next year's basketball teams should take both cups. Good luck!
